

(上接A24版)

Table with multiple columns containing names, IDs, and other identifiers. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different categories or departments. Each row contains a unique identifier and corresponding names.