

(上接A20版)

Table with multiple columns containing fund names, managers, dates, and other financial details. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each listing various investment funds and their associated information.