

Table with multiple columns containing company names, dates, and financial data. The table is organized into several sections, with the first section labeled '(上转A2版)'. It lists various companies and their associated financial metrics across multiple rows.